ABOUT US

WHO WE ARE

The Quantum Economic Development Consortium (QED-C [®]), managed by SRI International, is a trusted community for more than 240 global stakeholders from the quantum industry, academia, and government. Our members range from startups to conglomerates; component manufacturers and suppliers to technology end users, and research institutes to professional scientific societies. As an industry-driven organization, QED-C seeks to achieve its mission to enable and grow the quantum ecosystem by facilitating opportunities for members to collaborate, and engage on projects critical to bringing this emerging technology to commercial viability.

QED-C PLENARY MEETINGS

QED-C's plenary meetings are an opportunity for participants from member organizations to hear about relevant trends and to receive updates from QED-C project leads on current activities and outcomes. Plenary meetings also provide space for participants to discuss their organization's needs and to shape the projects QED-C and its Technical Advisory Committees tackle as the next steps forward for the industry. Most importantly, the plenaries provide attendees the opportunity to network with counterparts across the trusted quantum ecosystem.

BECOME A SPONSOR

By sponsoring a QED-C plenary, your organization enables QED-C to offer these meetings without a registration fee. Sponsors reach an average of 120 in-person attendees spanning startup CEOs, corporate decision-makers, government program managers, consultants, end users, talent developers, and prominent researchers at academic and research institutions. All sponsors receive recognition on QED-C's growing social media network.
